

Abstract

5

Induced aggregation and agglutination of platelets

The invention relates to a method for measuring the 10 aggregation or agglutination of platelets, where a reaction mixture is mixed in a first reaction phase, and is mixed less vigorously or not at all in a second reaction phase following the first, and the measurement is preferably carried out in the second reaction phase.

SEARCHED _____ SERIALIZED _____ INDEXED _____ FILED _____